Dear Warren Fiske,
cc Craig Carper

What is the specific source backing this claim, please?

| Overall in 2018, women earned 78.7 percent less than white men in the same areas of work.

Where did you find earnings by race for different categories from work, which the article seems to suggest are not available?

| The BLS's data set that compares gender pay by specific jobs does not sort men and women by race. It does, however, categorize the jobs into 29 broad fields of work and, in each of those fields, breaks down women and men by sex.

Thanks.
