Dear International Fact-Checking Network,

I've tried twice to send these attachments through the official complaint submission form. The first time I got a message saying it looks like something went wrong. The second attempt too longer in terms of browser activity but ended with the same result:

Whoops, looks like something went wrong.

I'm therefore sending this complaint via email.

Re: PolitiFact

This case primarily shows PolitiFact's failure to scrupulously follow an open and honest corrections policy. Secondly, as details in the outreach to PolitiFact help show, the case shows an inept approach to fact-checking (effectively ignoring the spox's explanation, etc.).

Yes, an attempt was made to contact PolitiFact to obtain a correction.

See attachments.
