Dear IFCN,

For the umpteenth time, you have updated a complaint documentation form to suggest that Bryan W. White (yours truly) somehow "resolved" the complaint he (I) was making.

That's flatly untrue, and I ask that you stop it.

Please replace the routine slanders with language that actually reflects what you mean. If reviewers don't think a complaint is legitimate, let them say why (the more specifically the better) and identify themselves by name. Don't falsely put it on the complainant as though the complainant developed cold feet about his complaint.

Thanks for your attention to this matter.
